IF YOU CANNOT ACCESS INFORMATION, YOU CANNOT COMBAT PROPAGANDA.

You can also take a backup of everything on Wikipedia, and the file fits on a thumb drive for offline use.

HERE'S HOW.

Who benefits if I act on how it makes me feel?
It's always about money. Always. So who's profiting from your actions?
Who gets paid when you spread a message for free?

Who gets paid if I
read or watch it?
We live in an attention economy. The longer you watch a video, the more the creator gets paid. The more you scroll, the more info Meta has on what the itch in your brain, and exactly what deal makes you back up the scroll and buy.

What is it trying to make me feel?
Is it using overly emotional language, to try to sway your thoughts in a certain direction? Question and consider word choices and tone. If it's overly aggressive, it's meant to rile you up.

ASK YOURSELF 3 QUESTIONS:

In the early 1940s, the FBI released a written "Simple Sabotage Field Manual". This document outlines how regular citizens could disrupt the enemy's war effort with simple and inconvenient actions, requiring no special training or equipment.

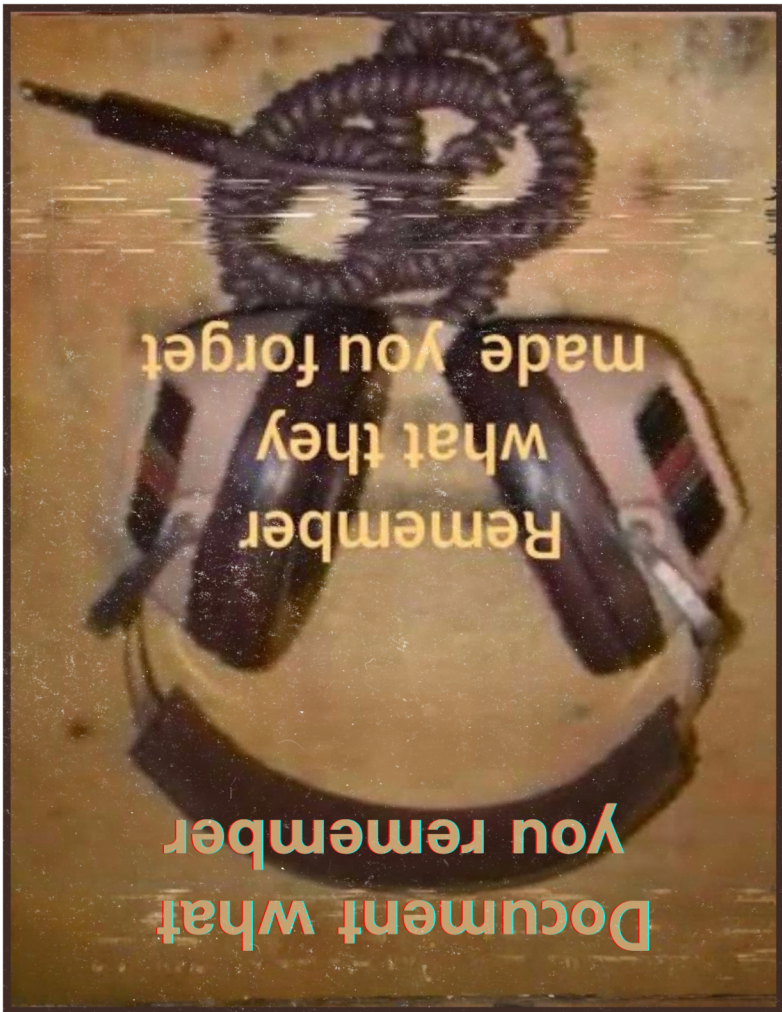

YOU WILL GET AWAY WITH IT

lose paperwork
make food wrong
decaf instead of regular overtighten lug nuts
strip spark plugs
delete jira tickets

IT IS YOUR RIGHT

WITHOUT ANY RISKS

everything adds up
you have no excuses anymore
just do it
